NUMBER 14

A Private Opinion In The Senatorial Race.

Dr. W. C. Carver, a member of the faculty of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and conceded to be one of the leading religious public men in the South, has the following article in "The Kentucky Issue," and which will be of interest just at present:

"It is not practicable to have a meeting of any of the committees of the Anti-Saloon League at this time. Secretary Young is out of the State and will not return in time for consultation before this issue goes to press. The following statement, therefore, is made solely on my personal authority and judgment.

"Governor Beckham is an open and insistent advocate of local option laws and their enforcement, and is also seeking to enforce the laws closing saloons on Sunday, especially in Lexington and Louisville. In Lexington the Mayor is enthusiastic and determined and needs only the moral support of the Governor. In Louisville the city administration and the local Democratic machine seem determined that the laws shall not be enforced and are largely blocking the Governor's efforts to have the law enforced. The Governor has declared publicly and privately that he would rather lose the nomination than to fail to enforce the laws.

During the last session of the Legislature the Governor in all right ways and on all proper occasions lent his influence to the enactment of the County Unit Law and other temperance legislation; and it is unquestionable that without this support of the Governor these laws could not have been passed.

"On account of this attitude of the Governor and on account of other legislation opposed by the liquor interests these interests have lined up solidly for the punishment of the Governor. They are ready to use enormous sums of money and all strategy of which they are masters to accomplish the defeat of Mr. Beckham for the Senatorial nomination. This is not revenge alone. Far more, it is persecution. Let it be remembered that Governor Beckham is the first of Kentucky's Governors to identify himself with the temperance and reform movement and vigorously to antagonize liquor lawlessness and at once one sees how important it appears to these liquor men to make an example of the Governor so that Mr. Hager, Mr. Hays, and all others aspiring to office shall fear to oppose the saloon even in its lawlessness.

There is thus placed before the Democrats of Kentucky the question whether it is politically safe for a leader in that party to stand for moral issues. This is unfortunately not the only issue in the pending campaign, but this is an issue and this is the way it presents itself to every man who seeks the moral welfare of the Democratic party.

"It must be said in all fairness to Senator McCreary that publicly and privately he declares himself in favor of the local option laws and the enforcement of all the laws affecting saloons and gambling. His personal record is not assailed. Yet he cannot deny that the whiskey vote is unanimously and vigorously supporting his candidacy. He returned from Washington to find the large liquor vote ready to support any man to destroy Beckham. The Senator allowed the liquor vote to come to his support. Leading liquor men and leaders are for him in Lexington and Louisville though Senator McCreary is by no means such a man as the liquor element would naturally prefer as their candidate. Doubtless this element is not supporting the Senator so much for his own sake as for the sake of punishing the Governor. And doubtless, again, the Senator would not prefer to have the liquor vote—the worst element in our citizenship—solidly supporting him, but he seems unwilling to allow this vote, seeking a candidate, to be lost. This is the situation and the main element in its explanation.

"This, then, is the upshot of the situation. The temperance cause in Kentucky, while not identical with the cause of any individual, would suffer a very serious loss and delay in the defeat of Governor Beckham, and his nomination would be of incalculable advantage to our cause, since it would be an undoubted lining up of the great dominant party in the State on the side of moral ideals and law enforcement. Here is the first opportunity since the triumph of our efforts last winter to place our endorsement on the man who made possible that success. And it is an opportunity, once for all, to put the Democratic party on the side of right in this great moral question; an opportunity which if lost now may be long delayed in coming again.

W. C. CARVER."

The Exquisite Garment Models For Fall.

They're All Ready.

Charming indeed, with an abundance of style with every new design thought thrown in.

These garments represent the masterstroke of high class tailoring, free from the sweat shops—made in well lighted—well ventilated establishments by men tailors well up in the art of ideal garment-making.

Perfection, Yes! From the button-holes to the inner linings. These are not the products of ill paid labor, but worthy Fall Suits, and Jackets and Cloaks. Skirts that rank among the "best" in one of the finest tailoring shops in the country.

Notably among the New Fall Creations is the Price Chap—a sturdy little suit for women, with just enough style in the make-up to fascinate the careful dresser. Then comes the Pony Jacket Suits—chic and embodying the correct principles which go to make up the perfect costumes. And there's a score of other good creations ready and willing to pass the most careful inspection.

Jackets in the trim fall shapes and coats of the long and gracefully flowing styles. Raincoats of superb styles. Skirts in the fashion formed pleating effects.

And all priced—surprisingly low priced.

QUESTIONS CANDIDATES ON TEMPERANCE ISSUE

Mrs. Beauchamp, President of
W. C. T. U., Asks for Information.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, President of the Kentucky Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has written an open letter to Senator James B. McCreary and Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, candidates for United States Senator, asking them to define their position on points which, Mrs. Beauchamp says, are of much interest to the temperance people.

She asks both how they will vote on the Terrill bill, prohibiting the sale of liquor on government property, and on other important questions involving the temperance issue. The letter is as follows:

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 5, 1906.
Senator Jas. B. McCreary and
Gov. J. C. W. Beckham.

Honorable Gentlemen:—The temperance people of the State can but be highly gratified that at last their opinions are receiving recognition by the honorable gentlemen who are seeking office through their suffrage. It is a matter of congratulation that you have each repeatedly declared your position on the County Unit law. So it will, of course, be an easy matter for you to declare your position on some national points of equal interest to the temperance voters of Kentucky.

At the urgent request of a number of these Democratic voters and the unanimous wish of the hundreds of temperance women of the State, I respectfully request you to tell the voters of Kentucky how you will vote on the Terrill Bill prohibiting the sale of liquor in all government buildings, parks, reservations and ships. Also on the Littleford Bill, which is an amendment to the Interstate Commerce law, protecting local prohibition territory from shipments of alcoholic liquors in original packages from license territory in another State.

And will you, if sent as a Senator from Kentucky, support a bill providing that an applicant for a United States Internal Revenue tax receipt shall present a license from authorities of the State or locality in which he proposes to engage in the liquor business, as a necessary prerequisite to the issuance of the United States tax receipts?

These laws, especially the last two, are especially essential to the successful enforcement of local prohibition gained under the County Unit law, are Democratic in that they recognize local self-government and States rights.

We are rejoiced to note that the Littleford amendment received the almost unanimous support of the Southern Democrats in the last session of Congress.

A reply will be appreciated by thousands of the great numbers of temperance voters of the State and by the writer.

Respectfully,

FRANCES E. BEAUCHAMP,
President Kentucky W. C. T. U.

MILK NO MEANS

For Transmitting Tuberculosis to Drinkers.

"Tuberculosis cannot be contracted from milk taken from a cow suffering from the disease. Neither has climate anything to do with the cure of tuberculosis."

These statements were made by Dr. Joseph Walsh, of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Anti-Tuberculosis Association. In his lecture on "The Treatment and Prevention of Tuberculosis," delivered under the auspices of the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Association at the Second Presbyterian church at Louisville last week.

"Tuberculosis is as widespread as smallpox in its palmiest days, and more terrible in its results than any disease that ever ravaged the earth," said Dr. Walsh. We know more about it than about any of the diseases that have been eradicated, and all that remains to be done is to apply the knowledge that we have.

"The disease may occur in any part of the body. It is not hereditary, but is contracted from another person suffering from the disease. It is true that tuberculosis most commonly runs in families, but experts have come to believe that the descendants of tuberculous people are less predisposed than other people. It is evident that no one is more exposed to the disease than are the children of tuberculous parents. If these children were susceptible they would all die young on account of their constant exposure to the disease."

MUST NOT EXPECTORATE.

Dr. Walsh said the prime factor in the prevention of tuberculosis is the creation of a feeling against expectoration.

While admitting that tuberculosis is at present the greatest scourge of mankind, Dr. Walsh maintains that it is one of the most curable diseases, and that if everyone was properly instructed the disease in a short space of time would be eradicated entirely.

Later:—Next day another doctor says that Dr. Walsh was mistaken.

Some Registration Echoes.

Registration in the city of Frankfort shows a total of 1,186 Democrats and 560 Republicans; a Democratic majority of 626.

The registration in Mayfield was 615, it usually being about 1,000.

At Winchester the returns show 778 Republicans, 715 Democrats, and about 40 independents. The special registration will increase this about one hundred.

At Richmond the registration was, Democrats, 556; Republicans, 401; Independents, 35; Prohibitionists, 2; special Prohibitionists, 2. Democratic majority 155. A decrease of 60 from last registration.

In Mt. Sterling the returns are:

	Dem.	Rep	Ind
1st Ward	162	24	10
2d Ward	164	67	8
3d Ward	17	209	3
4th Ward	91	34	3

Totals 434 334 24

The Gazette says quite a number of well-known Republicans registered as Democrats, their purpose being, we understand, to vote in the Democratic primary.

SO SOOTHING

Its Influence Has Been Felt by so
Many Mt. Sterling Readers.

The soothing influence of relief After suffering from Itching Piles, From Eczema or any itchiness of the skin, Makes one feel grateful to the remedy.

Doan's Ointment has soothed hundreds. Here's what one Mt. Sterling citizen says:

T. A. Garrison, farmer, living one mile west from town on the Grassy Lick pike, says: "When I state that Doan's Ointment is the best remedy for healing and allaying irritation that Lever came across I know what I am talking about and I base my opinion on the following: For a number of weeks I was greatly troubled with a bad sore on the back of one of my hands. It was caused from a bruise and so painful was it at times that I could scarcely use my hand. In spite of all I could do and the use of numerous salves, ointments and everything that I could hear of, the irritation only became worse and kept gradually spreading. Doan's Ointment was brought to my attention and I procured a box at F. C. Duerson's drug store. I had but little faith in it, but after one or two applications I noticed the inflammation being reduced and it was only a short time before the trouble was entirely removed."

PLEADS GUILTY.

Edward Scott Brought Diseased
Cattle Into State.

At Louisville Edward Scott, of Gallatin, Tenn., pleaded guilty to having brought diseased cattle into the State in violation of the Interstate Commerce Law, which makes it an offense to ship diseased cattle from one State to another. Scott said that he was ignorant of the law on this point. Judge Evans imposed the minimum penalty, a fine of $100.

Ambrose Burch, of Hardinsburg, convicted of having carried whisky from an illicit still, was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $200.

P. H. Woods, of Nelson county, charged with having operated an illicit still and having sold whisky made there, was found guilty and sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $200.

H. S. Rogers and Taylor Clark, charged with operating an illicit still in Nelson county, pleaded guilty, and a fine of $600 and a sentence of six months in jail were imposed in each case. Dan Knott, the alleged partner of Clark and Rogers, pleaded not guilty. The jury found Knott guilty. Judge Evans imposed the minimum fine of $100 and committed Knott to jail for thirty days.

Hughes and Roy Rogers pleaded guilty to operating an illicit still and were each fined $100.

George Smith, a Louisville attorney, was charged with illegally having accepted a fee for the collection of a pension.

Mr. Smith collected $45 from Mrs. Amelia Brinley, of Louisville, for securing a pension for her.

The session of the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge of Kentucky ended Wednesday, at Harrodsburg. Georgetown was decided upon as the next meeting place.
